Day 5 of Mourning:

Did you know that young workers are highly vulnerable to workplace injury? Young males face a 48 percent higher risk of injury than the overall working population.

Tomorrow April 28th, is The National Day of Mourning for workers killed and injured on the job. It is a day when we recognize and remember all those who have lost their lives just trying to provide for themselves and their families. Many students at this school have part time jobs, and all of us one day will have full time careers. As young workers we should protect ourselves from workplace dangers by knowing the safety procedures at work and by knowing our rights.

Remember: Everyone has the right to refuse unsafe work. On Friday April 28th, remember those who have been injured or have died at work. Please, mourn them, but don't be one of the mourned – stay safe at work.
